About the Continuing Care Desktop

Alberta Health Services, in cooperation with Alberta Health and Wellness (AHW), offers the Continuing Care Desktop, which has been developed by the Centre for Health Evidence (CHE).

Since 2006, the Continuing Care Desktop has been available to all continuing care workers employed either by Alberta Health Services or by providers under contract to Alberta Health Services.

The purpose of the Desktop is to communicate the Continuing Care Health Service Standards to all continuing care workers in an effective and efficient manner. The use of Desktop technologies allows the Standards, as well as teaching materials, resources and activities that support the Standards, to be available to all continuing care workers through one source.

The University of Alberta’s Centre for Health Evidence provides the technology that is the online home of the Desktop, and the technological expertise to make the Desktop available on the Internet. Dedicated staff members, including Information Specialists and Technical Specialists, manage the Desktop content, provide Help Desk support, and acquire and evaluate the resources and supporting evidence for the Standards.

For more information about the Continuing Care Desktop Project, please contact the Centre for Health Evidence in Edmonton, Alberta at 780-328-3722. The Help Desk is staffed Monday to Friday, 8:30 to 4:30, and is available at 780-328-3722 x 0, or by email at help@qwogo.com.
